

NYLD Presentation

Jack Aston

Q1 - What was the excursion

The excursion was a day at the 'National young Leaders day held at the Melbourne exhibition and convention centre, where we had various speakers come to talk to us about their life lessons and how to become a good leader along with important teachings and some ideas. We had Jane Bunn, Bryson Klein, Anastasia Woolmer and Melissa Barbieri. A take away from this was meant to be "what could we implement to our leadership skills?"

Q2 - What did your guest speaker speak about?

My guest speaker was Jane Bunn, a well renowned Channel 7 weather reporter, who had a some great life lessons along with a partnership with the St Kilda FC. One of Mrs Bunn's important lessons was choosing your words carefully, implying the different meanings of each word. Careful what you say as what you meant could be not what you said. Jane had some amazing stories and is a very bubbly character.

Q3 - What did I learn

I learnt that:

- The more your fear, the more important it is.
- Don't be afraid to fail
- Its ok to start small
- Failure is not trying
- To remember something, break it down into smaller groups
- Visualize the data/Info
- Work EFFICIENTLY

All these things could be included in my life to help me learn better.

Q4 - What leadership qualities do they have?

They all have persistence and resilience, Patience, bravery and from a social aspect, kindness & supportive nature. They all appear to be happy to support younger lives in how to become good leaders like the National leaders day.

Q5 - How does this impact your leadership skills @ St Mary's?

This leadership day was a great opportunity for me to experience what leaders in our world work and build from to become better leaders for their “people”. I wish to include some of these factors to become a great leader and role model for the students at St Mary's Ringwood, and the whole college as well.

- Don't be afraid to fail
- Its ok to start small
- Failure is not trying

These things I could start with, Participating in most if not all activities and building a social connection with staff and students across all year levels.